

Job Description

Job Title: Packaging Industry Apprentices

Responsible to: Relevant Department Managers

MSO are seeking to recruit a number of apprentices to become part of our future. Successful applicants will be given an introduction to all aspects of the printed packaging industry and ultimately an apprenticeship in one of the following areas of our business –

Pre Press (Kitting) Apprentice

The pre-press checking (or kitting as it is known) department ensure that the many resources required to produce cartonboard packaging are available before production begins.

MSO seek to employ an apprentice who will learn the skills required to be successful in this role and will be a self motivated individual who meets the essential criteria detailed below.

Pre Press (Plate Room) Apprentice

Using cutting edge computer software, in this role you will process customer artwork from files to press ready lithographic printing plates.

The successful candidate should have sound computer skills, creative flair and a keen attention to detail in addition to the criteria laid out in the Employee Specification.

Labels Production Apprentice

Combining both Pre Press and Labels Finishing duties the successful applicant will be trained in several aspects of printed label manufacture.

In addition to the essential criteria below the person employed in this role should have a flexible and enthusiastic approach to learning and undertaking new tasks.
